TROPICAL GALE BEARS DOWN ON NORTH CAROLINA

Beaches Evacuated;
Hurricane Reported
190 Miles Off Shore

HATTERAS, N. C., Aug. 30 (AP) — North Carolina beaches and outer banks were evacuated tonight as long Atlantic swells warned of the approaching hurricane.

Residents of lowland areas back from the coastline also were warned to seek shelter on higher ground as playground resorts and hotels battered down for the expected blow.

Largest movement of persons was at Atlantic beach, where the Red Cross ordered 1000 residents to board up their homes and leave the sand strip near Morehead City. Low areas in the Morehead City-Beaufort region also were cited as dangerous.

A 5:30 p. m. weather bureau advisory placed the hurricane center 190 miles south of here and said the storm was moving northwest or northward at 8 to 10 miles an hour, slower than previously reported.

THIS WOULD BRING the center near Cape Hatteras tomorrow, since the slow forward movement is expected to continue, the bureau said. Winds of gale force were forecast for this area about midnight, increasing to hurricane force within a few hours.

Hurricane warnings were continued from Wilmington to Cape Hatteras and storm warnings elsewhere to the Virginia capes, but storm warnings south of Wilmington were removed.

The report placed winds at the center of the hurricane at 115 miles an hour, with those of hurricane force extending 50 to 60 miles and gales extending out 140 miles.

RED INFLUENCE PRODUCED JOB

Chambers Tells Probers Of Soft Touch In U. S. While Aiding Communists

NEW YORK, Aug. 30 (AP) — White-taker Chambers testified today he used Communist influence to get a $6000 a year "boondoggling" job with the government in 1937.

He said this while he was drawing pay as a Communist underground courier and that, through party influence, he landed the job "within 24 hours." At the same hearing, a subcommittee of the House on American activities committee failed to draw any information from "J. Peters," the mysterious, long-sought witness identified by Chambers as the No. 1 man in the Communist underground in this country.

AFTER PETERS TOOK refuge in the Constitution in declining to answer all key questions, the subcommittee members recommended contempt charges for him. They said, though, that their proposed contempt citation could not be presented before Sept. 7.

Chambers told the subcommittee he obtained the federal job through Abraham George Silverman and Irving Kaplan, both government employees at the time, and Peters.

Silverman, whom Chambers said was a Communist, was named the past month by Elizabeth Bentley as a member of an alleged wartime Russian spy ring operating in government circles. Rep. Nixon (R-Calif.), a committee member, said yesterday Chambers' testimony would link the pre-war spy underground described by Chambers with the wartime ring described by Miss Bentley.

Chambers said his job, with the research department of the railroad retirement board, was "boondoggling." He claimed he was warned not to hurry about doing his work "or the job would end."

Man Goes to Register, Winds Up as Registrar

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Aug. 30 (AP) — A 25-year-old man went to the Cabell county draft board today solely for the purpose of registering.

But draft board officials, thinking he was a registrar, sat him down at a table and put him to work. Before he had stopped, the man registered 33 other 25-year-olds.

Embarrassed officials declined to identify him.

Minstrels' Shenanigans Give Newlyweds a Sendoff

"Job Hope Gadu," Pennsylvania Dutch for "I've Done It," is the motto of the weekend "abduction" of a newly-married New Berlinville couple by a quartet of imaginative minstrels. Emerging from St. John's Evangelical Lutheran church, Boyertown, the bride, Marie D. Johnson, and the groom, Charles Y. Moyer, found no other transportation available but the float-mounted old car shown above. The float drove through New Berlinville, pursued by a score of cars and came down to Hanover street here, near High street, where these photos were taken. The boxing ring is self-explanatory, but nobody knew what the hanged dummy meant. In the top picture, seated before the couple are (left to right) minstrels Alfred S. Johnson, Gordon H. Hunsberger, Peter Osman and Lester Y. Moyer, a brother. In the lower photo, Hunsberger congratulates the bridegroom, while Osman is barred from kissing the bride by her expression of horror.

Road Repair Starts In South Coventry; Protests Ignored

South Coventry township, Chester county, is getting new surface on the road the supervisors have wanted all along. Withstanding a gale of protest from a segment of the township's population, the supervisors have begun oiling and chipping a 3300-foot section running north and south of Coventryville and another stretch leading east off Route 100, about 1000 feet north of Bucktown.

William S. Symmons, secretary of the supervisors, said many township residents still are writing Chester county commissioners trying to have the decision altered. The Coventryville stretch, 1100 feet of which already has been resurfaced, will be completed this week, he said, and work on the other road off Route 100 will begin next week.

THE ESTIMATED COST of both is $5500, of which the county has given approximately half, $2800. The roads are scraped, bedded with three inches of stone and then covered with oil and stone chips and rolled.

At a supervisors meeting the past May 4, 43 men and women spoke out for a variety of roads which, they said, needed repair worse than those chosen. Particularly named were the New Philadelphia and Chestnut Hill-Coventryville roads.

At that time many said they would protest the decision to the county commissioners. The commissioners, however, told them that selection of township roads for repairs was not their business.

Scores of letters, nevertheless, have poured in to the commissioners since then. Symmons said the road now under repair is an essential shortcut between Coventryville and Pottstown. The entire project should be finished next week, he said.

School Board Okays Band Reorganization At North Coventry

A band will be formed at the North Coventry township Senior High school this fall for the first time since 1941. During their meeting last night, members of the school board approved the reorganization of the band and announced they "hope to have the band on the field by Thanksgiving Day football game."

William F. Lamb Jr. and two assistants at his Pottstown music shop will help in the organization of the band. It was pointed out that Lamb will not be employed by the Norco school district, but will serve in an advisory capacity.

School board members aimed for a 40-piece band. Training will be (Continued on Page Ten)

Odds of 2000-1 Prove No Barrier To Man Who Knows His Bees-ness

Sweating under the hot sun, members of the Good Will Fire company won their own version of the "cold war" on West Fifth street yesterday morning by defeating an estimated 2000 hard-biting hornets.

And, despite the temperature, it was done by freezing them to death. The battle was joined when residents complained to police of a hornet's nest on a low-lying tree limb before 46 West Fifth street. They feared a high truck might knock the nest from the tree—with stinging results.

At a loss to handle the case, police turned to Fire Chief Richard E. Lindauer who called upon the Good Will.

Assistant Fire Chief Robert Roth solved the problem by drawing upon the skill of his bee and hornet expert, John Smith, Pottstown RD 1. Accompanied by Keith and Lindauer, Smith took the company pumper to the battlefield, armed himself with a carbon dioxide fire extinguisher, and simply froze the buzzing hordes to death.

Then, using a ceiling hook, he pulled the nest from the tree, broke it open, and flushed the dead hornets down the street with a pressure hose. The tree was washed down completely to remove any scent which might draw stragglers. Although the firemen emerged victorious and unstung, one unidentified casualty was reported. An innocent bystander, as usual, got it in the end.

Relief From Heat Wave Brought by Cool Breezes

The six-day heat wave, which left four broken temperature records in its wake, began easing off yesterday. Top temperature was only 89.

But even better than a few less degrees in temperature was the low relative humidity, down to 30 percent much of the day, and a lively breeze which fanned all day.

The source of the relief, the weatherman said, was a cool air mass from Canada which has blanketed most states above the Ohio river. Today and tomorrow will be partly cloudy and cooler. It was predicted.

The extended heat wave began the past Tuesday when the temperature rose only to 85. But, combined with high humidity, it produced an uncomfortable day.

Wednesday, the last non-record day, registered a high temperature of 92, but a light breeze made it bearable.

FIVE PERSONS in the area were prostrated the next day when the mercury soared to a record 96. Absenteeism began crippling production in many plants.

By late Friday, when the temperature again climbed to 96, another record, four plants had closed partially or completely and another victim had collapsed from the heat.

Over the weekend when the mercury shattered two more records with Saturday's 95 and Sunday's 93, thousands forsook the hearth rug for the outdoors.

The Reading Weather bureau reported that the wave set an all-time record for high temperatures in the last week in August. "Don't put your fan in the attic, though. As late as Oct. 6 a temperature of 92 has been recorded, so more may be on the way."

SO, LAST NIGHT the Mercury interviewed seven likely young Pottstonians males to get their ideas on "changes of Summer wear—particularly donning shorts."

Five out of the seven balked. "Impossible," "I'd lose business," "No!" were some of the comments. Bucking convention was the biggest stumbling block.

"They (shorts) would probably be more comfortable—but I believe in convention," confessed Albert E. Hartman, supervisory employee at Stanley G. Flag company.

"I don't work in an office but if I did I would wear a collar, tie sleeves down and, naturally long trousers," he said. He would like the stuff made of light material.

DR. ROBERT LINN, 1010 North Evans street, declared, "I'd probably lose some of my practice if I wore them."

He advocated ditching the necktie for the duration of the Summer, but shorts "are too radical." Patients are conventional people, he explained, easily made shy by radical trends in their medicals.

Alvin R. Seybold, shoe store manager, is a man who has tried shorts and failed.

"When I was in Bermuda during the war everybody, including me, wore them. They were very practical," he sighed wistfully.

"I wore them a couple of times back here and felt out of place. People kept looking at me kind of funny so I took them off," he explained.

"75 percent of the other store managers wore them I would too but not until then."

Man, Wed Five Weeks Ago, Killed as Motorcycle Upsets

It's His Steer, But He's Tired Of Chasing It

By FRED SELBY
(Mercury Staff Writer)

The question of how 600 pounds of happy-go-lucky Hereford got to walking down High street early Sunday was answered yesterday by a North Coventry man who had a hobby of wild steer hunting thrust upon him.

But the question of where the steer went after its eyebrow-raising stroll through the business section at 12:30 a. m. was a bigger mystery than ever. It seemed to just plain disappear.

Henry Lang, who lives on Hidden lane not far from the Laurel Locks farms, is the owner of the sirloin on the hoof. At least he thinks he is.

Since nobody, including those who saw it meander around the front lawn porch of the Owls' home, could give him a thorough description (Continued on Page Ten)

Pair Admits Stealing From Produce Stands, Peddling Loot in Area

Two young self-appointed fruit merchants from Pottstown RD 2, who ran a huckster route in the area using a cave as a warehouse, were arrested yesterday and accused of stealing from local fruit stands six times in the past month.

Police estimate the value of the pair's total haul at about $500. Roland W. Johnson, 23, and Clyde L. Bartholomew, 20, who lived together in a house on Harmonyville road near Route 83, were held without bail for court after they were arrested at their home in a pre-dawn raid by police.

Collegeville Trooper Donald O. Bearcraft, who headed the investigation that trapped the pair, said both signed statements admitting the series of robberies, including four separate ones of the Simmons Produce market along Route 422 in Sanatoga.

Bearcraft, together with Pfc. Maurice Wilhere and Cpl. James F. Updyke, both of the Devon State police, and Daniel W. Guldin, North Coventry police chief, descended on the youths' home at about 3 a. m.

The police hid in the grass near the home until the youths drove up in the 1937 dark-gray coach they had used on their huckster route. One youth tried to get away, but was caught quickly. The other was collared in the car.

BOTH SUSPECTS have a record of previous arrests. Other States on a variety of charges, police said.

Johnson and Bartholomew, both of whom were experienced in the produce business, stayed early morning visits to produce stands up and down Route 422, from Norristown to Sanatoga.

Usually, police said, the pair stole what they found in the unprotected, tarpaulin-covered stands adjacent to the main markets, but on two occasions "broke" into the main stands.

Because of their knowledge of the produce business, police said, the pair picked only high-quality fruits and vegetables.

After they had made a visit to a produce stand, police said, the pair would drive to a spot near their home. Here, they would store the fruity loot in a cool, cave-like space hollowed out from dirt on the pattern of old-fashioned "cold cellars."

Johnson and Bartholomew, who were otherwise unemployed, then would load up their car on subsequent days, police said, and peddle the produce door-to-door in the area, especially around South Pottstown and Stowe.

AS THEY WENT undetected, the pair grew bolder, police said, and the past Aug. 18, 23 and 27 raised the same Sanatoga stand. Their final raid, the past Friday, was one of their biggest, police said. In addition to getting a wide assortment of produce, they also carried away candy and ice cream, police declared.

Meanwhile, Bearcraft's investigation was pointing more strongly to the Pottstown RD 2 pair. And with the help of Devon State police and Chief Guldin a watch was maintained on the home until the trap was ready to be sprung.

Spicer Employees Start Week's Mass Vacation

Employees of the Spicer Manufacturing company plant yesterday officially began a one-week vacation. Approximately 65 employees will remain at their jobs until tomorrow to make up payrolls and do necessary maintenance work, George J. Parker, manager, said. As soon as the work is finished, the plant will close down completely until Sept. 7.

Employees who work this week will get their vacation later if they have not already taken them, he added.

Second prize winner, and $3 richer, is Mrs. Dorothy Chivka, 247 High street, who reported that a neighbor, Mrs. Grace Crater, of the same address, and her two children, Sharon and Jeffrey, were leaving to join S/Sgt. John Crater in Tokyo, Japan. Their preparations for the trip and what they expect made a human interest feature.

100 New Homes Not Enough Here, Builder Says; He'll Push Plans

Gordon R. Exley 2d, president of a building corporation here, yesterday re-emphasized his determination to build homes on a large scale in Pottstown.

"Naturally," he said, "Mr. Zern's proposed development will have a bearing on our own plans, but I still believe there is an immediate need in Pottstown for more than 100 new homes."

He referred to the plans of contractor Warren B. Zern, announced the past Saturday, to build 100 six-room homes north of Prospect street, between Washington and Adams, on a rental or purchase basis. Zern said he would go to Philadelphia this week to confer with Federal Housing authority officials on financing plans for his development.

EXLEY, WHO DECLARED the past week he was seeking private backing for large-scale home projects in Pottstown, yesterday said he had surveyed the borough over the weekend.

George E. Young Dies Of Injuries Hour Later; Lived in Coventryville

A Pottstown RD 2 man who was married five weeks ago was injured fatally last night when hurled to the concrete from his swerving motorcycle as he rode home along Route 100 near Ludwig's Corner.

George E. Young, 43, Coventryville, died in Pottstown hospital at 3:35 o'clock, about an hour after his cycle went out of control in rounding a long curve.

Taken unconscious to the hospital in the car of two young men who saw his crash, he was found to have a fractured skull, cerebral injuries, internal injuries, fractured ribs, a compound fracture of the right arm and severe bruise burns over his entire body.

The husky, dark-haired Young never regained consciousness.

THE TWO YOUTHS who sped him to the hospital, Clinton Gies, 22, of Glen Moore RD, and Glen Lutz, 17, of West Chester RD 2, gave this account of the accident.

They were standing in front of Koehl's service station at Ludwig's corner, when Young flashed by, riding north on the highway.

When he was a few hundred yards away from them, as the cycle began rounding a long double-barrel to his right, they saw the rear end of the cycle begin to swerve back and forth across the road.

Suddenly, Young was pitched from the cycle by a violent swerve. The cycle remained upright and on the road for nearly 35 yards before it too, went to the right.

Since there were no motorists nearby, the two youths jumped into their car and drove up, were the first to reach him.

DRESSED IN A khaki shirt and trousers, the unconscious man was lying head down in a pool of blood, his right arm doubled under him.

They lifted him gently into the rear of the car and raced for the hospital, while people living along the road telephoned Devon State police.

Trooper Joseph Hovanietz said tire tracks on the highway indicated that the cycle was out of control for about 200 feet before Young was hurled from it, and that the cycle stayed on about 100 feet more.

There was no tire puncture, the trooper said, and the 1941 black cycle seemed in good condition. Moreover, Young was an expert.

WALLACE GETS ROUGH TREATMENT — Candidate Pelted With Rotten Eggs

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., Aug. 30 (P)—Rotten eggs and ripe tomatoes splashed on Henry Wallace in two North Carolina towns today.

The hunched Progressive party presidential nominee was pelted at Burlington and Greensboro.

Police at Burlington said they did not know who tossed the missiles from a throng of 2500 on the main street. After two attempts to complete his address, Wallace stepped into an automobile and drove off to Greensboro. Two tomatoes and one egg struck the former vice president at Burlington.

The barrage at Greensboro was heavier when he sought to speak at the Guilford county courthouse. When a few missiles splashed near him he smiled. But he turned angrily upon his audience when others struck him about the head and body.

"I don't mind being hit by eggs and tomatoes," he cried, "but they would be more useful being fed to children."

Wallace continued amid boos and catcalls: "The faces I have seen distorted by hatred are of people for whom I have in my heart profound compassion, because most of them have not had enough to eat."

LAUGHTER AND MORE booing again interrupted him there.

Voices from the audience broke in frequently with yells such as "Rave on Joe," "There are white people out here," and "Back to Moscow."

Wallace who started his three-day campaign trip into North Carolina before an egg-tossing crowd at Durham last night, wound up his second day with an appearance here at Southside baseball park. A scheduled mid-afternoon speaking engagement outside a plant of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco company here was cancelled. Members of the Wallace party, which traveled in 15 automobiles, said delays encountered en route here had forced the cancellation.

Girl, 12, Confesses Startling 100 Blazes That Stumped Experts

MACOMB, Ill., Aug. 30 (P)—The mysterious "spook fires" on the Charles Willey farm were set by a 12-year-old girl, a deputy State fire marshal reported today.

The State official, John Burgard, said the 100 or more blazes which had fire prevention experts puzzled were started with matches by Willey's niece, Woneit McNeil.

Burgard reported to John Craig, Illinois fire marshal, that the tow-headed girl who will be 13 years old tomorrow, admitted orally starting the fires when the family "weren't watching."

"She said she did it because she wanted to be sent to live with her mother, who is divorced," Burgard said. "And she reasoned that if the houses used by her father and her aunt and uncle were burned down, she'd have to be sent to her mother."

Woneit and her brother, Arthur, Jr., 8, were placed in custody of her father at the time of the divorce. McNeill and the children have been living with the Willeys. He is Mrs. Willey's brother.

Woneit's mother is Mrs. Leona Eagle of Bloomington, Ill.

Technicalities Delay Conference on Berlin

MOSCOW, Aug. 30 (P)—Another East-West meeting was held in the Kremlin today and an authoritative source said the only bar to a procedural agreement on the Berlin crisis was insistence by a western power on technicalities and phrasing.

Today's two-hour meeting was the ninth since July 30 and one of the shortest on record. Representing the Soviet Union were Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov and his deputy Andrei Vishinsky.

The French political crisis was reported to be having some effect on the conversations.

French Ambassador Yves Chateigneau did not join U.S. Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith and special British envoy Frank Roberts in a post-Eremlin conference at the American embassy until 35 minutes after it began.

THE CONFERENCES are devoted to drafting messages and recommendations to Washington, Paris, and London.

Chateigneau stayed for only 20 minutes, then left Roberts and Smith still in conference.

The western powers were reported very close to agreement on how to go about the problem of dealing with the Berlin situation. This did not mean agreement had been reached on the issues involved.

The authoritative source did not name which of the western powers was insisting upon the technicalities and phrasing.

There is a good chance of agreement this week, the source said.

Dutch Queen Honored; Marks 50 Years of Rule

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 30 (P)—Queen Wilhelmina came out of retirement today to spend the last week of her 50-year reign in the palace on Dam Square.

Dutch, by the hundreds of thousands along the way, cheered the monarch, who celebrates her 68th birthday tomorrow and abdicates Saturday in favor of 39-year-old Princess Juliana.

The queen came by train from Apeldoorn with a mid-day stop-over at The Hague to receive the first of many ovations in her Golden Jubilee.

She reached orange-flowered and flag decked Dam Square in the early evening and was welcomed at the palace doorstep by Juliana, the German-born Prince Bernhard, and three of their four little princesses, who kissed their grandmother.

Juliana gave up the role of princess regent during the day in order that her mother might get the full attention of her people in the resumed position of active queen of the Dutch for this final week.

Gerald Hammel Gets Eagle Scout Award At Linfield Meeting

In a special ceremony last night, Gerald Hammel became the third Linfield youth to receive the top rank in boy scouting.

Attaining the rank of Eagle scout at Camp Delmont July 31, he was given his pin and ribbon by Harry Shellenberger, district commissioner, during an outdoor session at the farm of Samuel Fry, Linfield.

Thirty-five persons, including scouts, cubs, parents and committee members attended the meeting.

Hammel, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hammel, Linfield, and a member of Linfield Troop 1, has been active in scouting for the past four years. The meeting was staged by Troop 1, of which Henry Kulp is scoutmaster.

Refreshments including roast corn and hot dogs were served.

TWELVE SCOUTS of Stowe

Troop 1 gathered together to discuss a forthcoming camping trip which will take them to Montgomery county park from Friday night through Labor Day. There will be no meeting next Monday night, said Paul Miller, scoutmaster.

Games were played and individual patrol meetings also were held. American Legion Troop 1 also planned a camping "journey."

Six boys, with assistant patrol leader Searles Boone, will leave Friday morning for the troop camp at Fagleyville.

Last night, they discussed the trip and prepared the camping menu under the direction of George V. Prutzman, assistant scoutmaster.

Troop 7, Searles Methodist church, spent the evening rehearsing a play entitled, "Listen Children, and I'll Tell You," which revolves around Congress in Washington. The troop plans to stage the play at some future date.

Scoutmaster John H. Jacob said they would wait for a special occasion. A corn roast will be held tonight in honor of "Scout Night," sponsored by the Optimists club.

Six scouts and two leaders met in the church basement. Gene Shellenberger, scoutmaster of Troop 4, First Methodist church, announced that no more outdoor meetings would be held unless for special reasons. Last night the boys received instruction in tenderfoot knots, with some review to see what they had forgotten during the summer.

25-Year-Olds Sign Up for Draft

The post-war draft registration began yesterday with a flow of 25-year-olds into borough hall council chambers. John Friend (foreground), 373 New street, is signed up by Mrs. Ernest T. Hurter, 1218 Cherry street, while Mrs. Frank Witmyer (center), 1463 Cherry lane, has a temporary rest. In the background, Mrs. Harry Guest, 853 North Evans street, fills out the form of Earl Wonsidler, of Perkiomenville. (Story on Page One.)

The eight boys present also talked over a prospective camping trip to Camp Delmont in November, where a few closed cabins are available for winter trips.

A parent-award night will be held sometime in the near future, Shellenberger said.

Brower Knaster, scoutmaster for Troop-10, Rupert school, has been on vacation with his family in the western states for the past two weeks.

Bruce E. Roberts, assistant scoutmaster, took over in the talked over plans for a scrap paper drive, details of which will be decided at the troop's next meeting, Sept. 14. Thomas Lawler, scoutmaster, announced that no meetings would be held until that date.

ST. CLAIR SCHOOL'S Troop 14,

Gilbertsville Troop 1 held no meeting last night due to its weekend camping trip to French Creek State park. Six boys and two leaders made the trip. Donald Kastle, scoutmaster, was in charge.

Firemen Stamp Out Blaze Near Warehouse

For the second time this year, Good Will firemen last night extinguished a bonfire outside the Levitz Furniture company warehouse, 74 South Franklin street.

Although the pumper and emergency truck responded to the call at 7:30 o'clock, firemen merely stamped out the blaze of cardboard and paper next to the warehouse's brick wall. The fire was believed started by neighborhood boys.

As unkindness has no remedy at law, let its avoidance be with you a point of honor.—H. Ballou.

Enough of This Heat!

WE WOULDN'T mind if it rained in sheets and poured pitchforks in all the streets, and lightning rent the sky in twain and let out bucketsful of rain, and the thunder ripped and rolled and roared and it simply, old thing, it imply poured!

We wouldn't mind if Jupiter Pluv. got firmly into the well-known groove and the torrents gushed and hurried and smote until the globe was all afloat, until the heavens were aswin and they put pontoons on the seraphim, and it rained and rained without a stop.

Well, does it do so?
Not a ducky.

It May Be Yours

(See Editorial Picture)
TOMORROW the "big parade" begins in the Pottstown area.

With the arrival of September, thousands of local boys and girls go back to school. Many will be answering the bell for the first time.

They are your children, it's true. But they also are OUR children — the boys and girls who will be the citizens of tomorrow, carrying on where we leave off.

At school they will receive the education necessary to fit them for life's tasks. As they begin school, they are, to some extent, "on their own." They will see not only the brighter, happier side of life, but will learn something of the seamy, unpleasant side.

But there is much that we can do for them. First of all, we can give them the maximum of protection.

You say—"Of course, that's understood." Is it? True, we give them, by law, certain protection.

But we take their lives by the thousands each year—wantonly, carelessly, needlessly. Children on the way to and from school must pass along public highways, they must cross streets. While at lunch and recess, they may again be on the streets.

And then they are at your mercy! Too many young lives are snuffed out by motorists who have relaxed their vigilance for a second, who "didn't see the youngster dash from behind a parked car."

Regardless of whose fault, if you should be unfortunate enough to take the life of a boy or girl, you might find it very, very hard to forgive yourself.

So many tragedies in the past could have been avoided. And during the current school year, there will be more fatalities that could have been avoided.

When you are driving near a school zone, slow down. That extra minute saved isn't as important as a young life. The state motor vehicle code provides a restriction limiting the speed of an automobile to 15 miles an hour during the hours when children are going to and coming from school and during the recess period.

But to be safe, exercise that precaution all the time!

If you are driving your car at a low speed and a boy or girl darts into its path, there is a good chance of stopping before it is too late. Otherwise, it may be fatal... you may have taken a life.

Regardless of the hour, drive cautiously and at low speeds in all school zones. Give the boys and girls of today a chance to be the citizens of tomorrow.

Tool of Dictatorship

CONGRESS took the only possible course when it refused to again impose price controls and rationing on the country. As the New York Times said, the proposal to roll back prices to the level of last November was "an Alice-in-Wonderland of economics."

Even so, price control will continue to be one of the hottest domestic issues, and it may play a decisive role in the general election. And the principle it involves, no less than its practical aspect, must be clear in the public mind.

First of all, no one can long make or raise a product at a loss, and no one can stock it for sale at a price that won't return some profit.

Furthermore, price control would undermine free government. Our kind of political system can only survive when a free, competitive economy exists to support it.

Price control is one of the basic tools of dictatorship. Let no one believe that we can have, at the same time, free government and a regimented economy.

Wants Details of Sergeancy Exam Made Public

Guarantee Against a 'Fix'

To the Editor: Well, now that the examinations for the police sergeancy are over, I am wondering what the council will do in regards to the appointment.

Let me give my opinions in this matter. I feel that the civil service commission should have the controlling hand in the appointment of a sergeant. I am sure they are better qualified to do so. I feel the political machinery of the borough should have no voice in this matter. That way the "favorite son" could not be appointed.

Give the facts concerning the examination to the public, not only part, but all of it. Explain the system the borough officials used in scoring the individual records. If need be, I would suggest that the examination papers be re-checked by neutral persons. Then, we can be sure there was no "fix."

If we are to have a police force that we can be proud of, then, I say throw politics out of the picture. Let's quit kidding the public, wise up, and run our offices in the manner that the public would like to have them run.

Pottstown JOHN Q. PUBLIC

(Editor's note: The Mercury offered to print the examination for the police sergeancy in its entirety. But, while the idea was endorsed by the chairman of the civil service commission, the remaining members refused to make the examination public. The method by which the records were scored also was kept confidential.)

WASHINGTON

Life Insurance Annuities Get Boom From 'Babe'

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—Although Babe Ruth may not have realized it, a notable monument to the late home-run slugger was the inspiration he furnished to millions of people for the purchase of life insurance annuities. Department of Commerce statistics bear out the suggestion of company executives that he was largely responsible for the boom in this form of old age security.

For many years it was a case of "easy come, easy go" with the boy who never grew up, except physically. But in 1933, the year when the New York Yankees won their first world championship by defeating John McGraw's Giants, the Babe began to plan for the day when his keen eyes would dim and his spindly legs would fall him.

ANNUITIES: Christy Walsh, his business manager and ghost writer, was largely responsible. But the idea appealed to Ruth as soon as it was broached to him. Harry Hellmann, then on the roster of the Detroit Tigers and a part-time agent for the Equitable Life Assurance society, made the sale.

The Babe began to cash in on his annuities in 1934 and it is understood that the return to his estate will be almost double the amount of premiums he paid in.

ADVERTISING: The 1923 transaction made a big, black splash in the headlines. It also made excellent advertising for this type of protection, which had been somewhat neglected by insurance agents and public relations representatives.

"When it comes to handling money," he said, "I realized long ago that my talents lay in an altogether different direction. I want something that will take care of me when my batting eye might not be as good as it is today."

"So, I have signed up for a large enough annuity to keep me comfortable when the bats and strikes and home runs will be only pleasant memories."

SALES: The attendant publicity led to an immediate boost in the sales of annuities. At first they were bought largely by other athletes, Hollywood personalities in the big money and top-salaried corporation executives. But the idea has spread until now many people making comparatively small salaries are investing so as to supplement other kinds of income in their declining years.

It may also be significant that other forms of life insurance have not registered a comparable increase. Incidentally, the tremendous increase between 1930 and 1935 is attributed partially to the effect of the depression and the publicity which marked preparation for the establishment of the federal Old Age Security System in 1935.

INSURE: Members of the Senate Small Business committee entertain the suspicion that the Truman Administration's alleged favoritism to the Kaiser automobile and the Lustron steel pre-fab housing interests derives from the fact that the government seeks to insure wartime and post-war investments in these companies.

In making this charge at executive sessions, they echo the warning of Jesse H. Jones, former chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, that Uncle Sam had to give permanent hostages to big business, and also entered upon a policy that would result in discrimination in their favor as against non-borrowing rivals. The realistic Texan made many similar loans only under pressure from the late President Roosevelt.

Although not admitting the truth of this argument, Federal officials and automobile manufacturers point out that, in view of shortages of tools and essential materials resulting from the Marshall aid program, this is the worst of all times to inaugurate such a revolutionary change in this basic industry.

Defender of Women's Rights

To the Editor: It's a cinch that Reformer ("Rights Abused, So Others Suffer," Readers Say, Aug. 28) is an amateur in handling women or he wouldn't have written what he did about their independence.

My wife works in one of the downtown stores. She's a sensible woman who realizes that, with prices as they are these days, it often takes two paychecks to make ends meet. In addition, she comes right home after work and gives me her pay to put in the bank.

If I didn't have a wife like this, I probably wouldn't own an automobile which I need to get to work. We probably would have to get along with an ice box instead of a refrigerator. Our youngsters wouldn't be able to go out with their friends as often as they do.

I'm happy that women have been given more of a place in business life. It's only natural that there will be a percentage of irresponsibles among working women, just as there is among men.

Girls Want Men on Wheels

To the Editor: I agree with Romeo ("Girls Give Him the Brush-Off," Readers Say, Aug. 28) about Pottstown girls. But if Romeo had an automobile, he'd get all the skirts flocking to him whether he lives at the YMCA or not.

Girls in this town aren't content to walk on a date. If you take them to a movie, they want to go to Reading or Norristown. If you ask them out for a beer, they're insulted if you suggest going somewhere in town.

I found one girl who is willing to walk and I'm sticking with her. She is one in a thousand.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

INFLUENZAL meningitis is a cruel disease which, for the most part, attacks babies and young children. In former years the disease was nearly always fatal and even in the rare instances where it did not kill its victims, it crippled by causing extensive damage to the brain.

Today, if the condition is diagnosed early, life can be saved. This has been made possible by the use of new drugs such as the sulfonamides and streptomycin.

Unfortunately, the earliest symptoms seem very innocent so that the child shows evidence of nothing more dangerous than a running nose and sore throat. At other times it may be preceded by tonsillitis or pneumonia. When the meningitis develops, there is some disturbance of consciousness, ranging from drowsiness to stupor, a temperature varying from 100 to 104 degrees, and there may be some stiffness of the neck, and convulsions. When the fluid from the spinal canal is examined, it is found that there is a great increase in the number of white blood cells in it, as well as an increase in the amount of protein. The influenza germ responsible for the condition is also found in the spinal fluid. The influenza bacillus or germ is not to be confused with the influenza virus. It is the virus that causes the ordinary attack of "flu" or "grippe."

During the early stages of the disease, the brain is seldom harmed to any great extent. After the second week, however, more damage may occur.

It would appear that streptomycin is the most effective treatment for this disease. Of course, the drug is most effective when it is given early. Hence, prompt diagnosis is important in order that permanent brain damage may be avoided.

There is a rabbit serum which also seems to be helpful in this condition. Since victims of influenzal meningitis are usually so young as to be unable to describe their symptoms, the diagnosis may be difficult to make. If after a respiratory infection such things as drowsiness and fever develop, or there are other signs of disturbance of the nervous system, the possibility of influenzal meningitis must be kept in mind and an examination of the spinal fluid carried out in order to make a definite diagnosis.

Lew Ayres still insists on the simple solitary life when he is not working on a picture. He packs himself into a jeep that looks like a veteran of the Guadalcanal campaign and may be gone for a week at a time without even contacting his agent—a situation that probably sounds less than drastic to the average citizen but is almost unheard of in Movieland. Last trip out, he took along canvas and paints and presumably a box or two of biscuits, and returned days later with a peaceful expression and several oil paintings of deserted gold mines.

JAY GORNEY, who has written the music for the forthcoming show "Heaven On Earth," started out as a lawyer and switched to screen-writing, but he feels that his greatest accomplishment was the discovery of Shirley Temple. He put her in the picture called "Stand Up and Cheer," which took 20th Century Fox out of the red and put Miss Temple well into the black.

Gorney says he discovered Shirley in a theater lobby near Hollywood when he was attending a preview, and asked her mother to bring her to his office the next morning. The studio galekeeper refused to let the mother and child in, so Gorney and Shirley trekked around the corner to phone Gorney from a pay station. If he hadn't been in his office at that moment to take the call, Shirley Temple might never have become a national institution.

JOBS UPON A TIME

Rosemary De Camp, Nurse Judy Price on the Dr. Christian radio show, wanted to be a doctor. Then, while attending Mills College, Oakland, Cal., Rosemary decided to be an artist, but her teachers steered her family to the dramatic school. As an actress Rosemary found out that she was near-sighted, which accounted for her mishaps in painting. After graduation from college she went on barnstorming tours, now figures she has since played 563 radio parts, and made a number of films. Rosemary is married to a judge and she has three daughters.

Bert Lahr has been called "one of the greatest comedians left in show business." Bert was born in the Yorkville section of New York city, and for many years was in vaudeville, stage productions and burlesque. In 1927, on the stage, Bert appeared in Delman's Revels, in 1932 in Hot Cha and then in Life Begins at 8:40. Appeared first in motion pictures in 1930 in Faint Heart. In 1939 Bert appeared in Zaza.

MODERN MANNERS

If you move into an apartment building with a number of other families living in it, it is customary to simply say "good morning" or "good day" when you meet them, until you get to know them better and can chat.

IT HAPPENED TODAY

On Aug. 31, 1934, Huey Long entered New Orleans with troops, planning to investigate his political enemies. On this same date, 1784, the French were entirely dispossessed of the part of the country around Fort Detroit.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

Greetings on birthday anniversaries go today to Ex-Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands, who on this date relinquishes her throne to her daughter, who becomes Queen Juliana. Actors Frederic March and William Saroyan, novelist and playwright, are also due to receive congratulations.

ALL AROUND THE TOWN

He'd Seen It All!...
Fair Enterprise...

VILLAGE CUTUPS—A couple of drunks looked dazedly out of their fog shortly after midnight Saturday at High and Hanover streets. One sat on a refuse pail. The other leaned against a light standard. Loping west on High street came that lost steer. One of the drunks brushed a shakely hand in front of eyes. It was true! "Boy, I've had enough now!" he swore. "I'm going home." And he jumped into a bus headed for Stowe... Irving Markowitz, Pottstown lad with a lengthy Army career in the background, is operating a frozen, chocolate covered banana stand at the Reading Bicentennial celebration at the Reading Fair grounds.

THINGS TO COME—Cooling is the announcement that electric Christmas tree lights which can be strung up in any order or placement will be on the market this year. The lights have a two-piece socket that fits around the electric cord. Inside the top of the socket are two sharp-pointed prongs. When you screw the two pieces together, the prongs pierce the insulation on the cord, make contact with the wires.

HOW IT STARTED—According to common legend, now generally accepted as historical fact, a Chinese Emperor once got so irritated by his writing materials, such as silk and slabs of bamboo, that he ordered one Ts'ai Lun, a court attendant, to invent a new writing medium. Apparently Lun did as he was told, for about 105 A.D. he produced a substance composed of beaten fibers of the inner bark of the mulberry tree, matted together to form a white sheet. It was paper, and this first process underlies all papermaking even today.

SING SING SAGA—Back in 1826 a certain Captain Elam Lynds brought 100 convicts from the New York State prison at Auburn to a small village on the Hudson River called Sing Sing, Indian words meaning "stony place." Captain Lynds set the convicts to work building a wall. The men literally walled themselves in, and Sing Sing became a synonym for prison the country over.

SOME WOLVES DON'T WHISTLE—So closely related are wolves to the domestic and other true species of dogs that zoologists have been unable to find any satisfactory differences. It is a matter of record that American Indians domesticated wolves and that in present times domestic dogs often turn wild and join wolf packs. Want to have some fun with yourself? Gaze in a mirror and compare your two ears. Then take side views of them and a squint, if you have time, from the back. You'll be amazed at the differences you'll discover between them. You'll have fun, too, in comparing the ears of your friends. Quite a subject for study.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

MARY V., 29, is the attractive wife of a prominent western dentist. She recently accompanied her husband to Chicago to attend a dental convention.

"Dr. Crane, when we had registered at our hotel the first morning of the convention, her husband told me, 'I suggested to Mary that we look around and see what had been planned in the way of entertainment for the women folks.' Apparently, not much thought had been given to our wives, for outside of a bridge party in the hotel that afternoon, they were left stranded. I suppose it was assumed they would all be interested in shopping."

"Actually, however, Mary wanted to meet and chat with the wives of other dentists."

"But she got stuck with three professional bridge fiends that afternoon. When she came into our room just before dinner, she threw herself on the bed and cried. She wanted to go home."

"But I tried to soothe her, and agreed that we'd duck out and take in a show alone, so our trip wouldn't be a total loss. She finally dried her tears. 'We stole away after dinner and amused ourselves. But don't you think it would be good strategy, Dr. Crane, for sales as well as professional conventions, to pay more attention to the wives? My wife is now disgusted with dental conventions.'"

MARY HAD LOOKED forward delightedly towards this convention. Do you suppose she will be so eager to attend a future dental meeting?

And she is so enthusiastic about her husband's closing his office next year and departing for another convention? Now multiply Mary's viewpoint by that of the wives of many other professional men, and you can foresee the sales resistance that the organizers of succeeding conventions will be compelled to overcome.

Many commercial organizations, for instance, spend thousands of dollars annually in recruiting and training salesmen.

Then they spend additional large sums bringing those salesmen into a centrally located city for a convention.

The purpose of the convention is usually to buoy up the waning morale and to re-enthuse the salesmen. But the officials often do very little to educate and inspire the salesmen's wives!

They fail to realize that women can be taught to be the very best possible sales managers for their husbands, whether the latter be dentists, or purveyors of merchandise.

For if a wife isn't sold on her husband's occupation or his merchandise, she may lower his enthusiasm and inundate his morale seven days per week.

Church Is Background Of Stoudt-Snaith Rites

Transfiguration Lutheran church was the setting Saturday for the wedding of Miss Evelyn Snaith and Mr. Earl G. Stoudt which was solemnized at 2 o'clock in the afternoon by the Rev. Luther A. Krouse, pastor of Emmanuel Lutheran church.

White gladioli and palms artfully decorated the church, while the bridal music was furnished by Mrs. William S. Hellyer, organist, and Miss Freda Schindler, vocalist.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was radiant in a white satin gown with scalloped neckline, fitted bodice and long light sleeves buttoned from elbow to wrist and ending in a point over each hand. The classic skirt was designed with a short pleat in the front which gradually dropped to form the long full train which was edged in Chantilly lace.

The finger tip length veil of net fell from a tiara of seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of white pompons centered with three orchids. Her only attendant was Mrs. Charles D. Weller, who served as maid of honor in a gown of ice blue satin with square neckline, fitted bodice, cap sleeves and very full skirt. She carried a bouquet of yellow pompons.

Mr. Joseph Moyer attended as best man while the ushers were the Messrs. Harry G. Bradley and Charles D. Weller.

Following a reception at the home of the bride's parents, the couple left for a honeymoon at shore resort towns with the bride traveling in a gray and white corded suit with black accessories.

After Sept. 7 they will reside at 455 North Evans street, home of the bridegroom.

Miss Kathryn Paul, daughter of Mr. Edwin Paul, Schwenkville RD 1, and Mr. Vincent Uba, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Uba, Royersford RD 1, were united in marriage at 2:30 o'clock on Saturday afternoon in St. Peter's Roman Catholic church.

The Rev. John Naja, rector, officiated at the double ring ceremony. A recital of organ music was presented by Mrs. Hattie Welsh, while vocal selections were rendered by Mrs. Margaret Koons, of Boyertown.

Approaching the altar on the arm of her father, the bride was attired in an ivory satin gown styled with a high round neckline and tiny lace peter pan collar, long high sleeves pointed over the hands, fitted bodice with a lace trimmed pleum attached and a full skirt ending in a long train edged with lace.

Her veil was chapel length and was trimmed with lace. It fell from a heart shaped crown of seed pearls. She carried a white orchid fastened to a prayer book.

MAID OF HONOR, Miss Lorraine Uba, sister of the bridegroom, was attired in a pink marquisette gown featuring an illusion neckline with drop shoulders, cap sleeves, fitted bodice and a full skirt caught up at various places to reveal several rows of ruffling. She wore a bonnet of pink net and carried a bouquet of pink roses.

BEST MAN for the bridegroom was Mr. Jack O'Conner, a cousin.

Mrs. Bachman, mother of the bride, was attired in a black dress with white accessories while the mother of the bridegroom chose a gray print dress with white accessories. Both wore white rose corsages.

The newlyweds are now residing at West High street, Stowe.

The bride was graduated from Anity High school, class of 1945, and is employed at Block Brothers. Mr. Howard attended Norristown schools and is employed at the Boyertown Casket company.

Flagg's Rally to Tie Diecasters in 3d Playoff Game, 6-6

CONTEST HALTED DURING DOEHLER UPRISING IN 6TH

Defending Champs Lose Hot Argument to Umpires; 4th Game Listed Tonight

Franklin Field resembled the Ebbets Field of old last night as arguments and near riots highlighted the third City-Industrial league championship playoff game between Doehler's defending champs and Flagg's.

And when the smoke had cleared and shouts and heckling had quieted down to gentle talk, the scoreboard showed the two teams deadlocked at 6-6.

The game was called in the top half of the sixth inning because of darkness. Doehler's were batting at the time and four runs had already crossed the plate to give the defending champions a 10-6 edge.

When umpire in chief Willard Stevens stopped the game, the score went back to the end of five innings, 6-6.

As the series now stands, the two teams are all even with one victory apiece. The fourth game of the series will be played tonight on Franklin Field at 8 o'clock.

Immediately after Stevens stopped the game, many of the 900 fans present ran onto the field to listen to the hot argument between the Diecasters and umpires. Doehler's protested that Flagg's were stalling for time in the last inning but the umpires said the game ended in a tie and refused to forfeit the game to the champions.

Players were still arguing an hour after the game was halted.

The game started out with both teams scoring at will. But when Flagg's came back to tie the score in the fourth inning the game slowed down considerably.

Neither team scored in the fifth and darkness started to cover the field as the teams moved into the sixth frame still deadlocked. Doehler's wasted little time in loading the bases and scoring four times against Bobby Millard, who had been on the mound for Flagg's from the start.

WHEN DOEHLER'S scored their seventh run, the game slowed down to almost a walk. Eddie Mauger, the ninth man to bat for the champs in the sixth inning, was standing at the plate when Stevens halted the game. There were two out at the time.

The game was just an ordinary game until the ending of the fourth inning when Flagg's scored three times to tie the score.

Millard was safe at first on an error and Merrill Hook followed with a terrific smash off starter John Holowka that went for a home run to make it 6-5. Doehler's in front.

When Ernie McCord's fly ball into left field was ruled as a ground rule double, Doehler's started a heated argument and the fireworks started.

FROM THEN ON it was hot with both teams chipping in with their opinion. During the argument that followed McCord's double, Merrill Mauger, Doehler's first baseman, was ejected from the game by third base umpire Evan Haley.

Doehler's opened the game with a three-run blast in the first inning, but Flagg's got one of those runs back in its half of the initial frame.

Three singles and an error gave Doehler's two more runs in the second and it appeared as if the Diecasters were off to an easy win.

Flagg's, however, scored single runs in the second and third innings before Doehler's scored again in the fourth to make it 6-3. Then came the big fourth inning for Flagg's. After Hook's homer closed the gap and McCord was on second with a two-bagger, Stosh Wassiluk grounded to second. Bill Egolf made a poor throw to first base and the ball got away from Nels Weidenbaugh, allowing McCord to score from second with the tying run.

Eddie Mauger replaced Holowka on the mound for Doehler's in the next inning and Flagg's had a good opportunity to go ahead. With one out, catcher Joe Monjar blasted one of Mauger's pitches for a triple to deep center. Mauger, however, fanned Millard and got Hook on a fly to right.

FLAGG'S WERE weakened when two players were forced to leave the game. Billy Harner, who scored

Mack May Change Scheib Into Outfielder Next Year

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 30 (AP)—Don't be surprised if pitcher Carl Scheib roams the outfield for the Philadelphia Athletics next year.

It may sound strange for an 11-game winner to even think about giving up pitching but after pursuing a few figures the logic is as clear as a mystic's crystal ball.

The 21-year-old farm boy from Gratz is in the words of his manager, Connie Mack, "a great batsman." Mr. Mack is seriously considering converting Scheib to an outfielder next year if—and that's a big if—he can find a capable pitching replacement.

"I think Carl would make a fine outfielder and could supply us with a lot of needed power."

"Of course, he's a fine pitcher too and it's a hard decision to make."

The strong armed right-hander is all for becoming a fly chaser.

"I'd like that mighty fine. Then you play every day and get to use that bat a lot," he said today resting up from yesterday's Chicago game in which he tossed a nine hitter, drove in two runs and scored the winning tally himself. He rapped two singles and a triple.

HERE ARE a few reasons why the Athletics' management has dreams of another great hitting outfielder.

1. Scheib, in 35 games has batted 71 times, made 23 hits, including six doubles, two triples and two home runs, scored 11 runs and driven in 18. His batting average is a sprightly .324.

2. As a pinchhitter, Scheib has appeared seven times and made four hits of which two drove in winning runs and another chased across a tying run of a game the A's went on to win.

Scheib takes his hitting seriously and credits Coach Earl Brucker with most of his success.

"Brucker watches me every day in batting practice and gives me tips that have helped my hitting a great deal. There isn't much about hitting Brucker doesn't know."

Even Scheib's teammates encourage him to turn to the green pastures.

YESTERDAY was typical. Scheib returned to the dugout after blasting a pinch hit home run to hear his mates plead:

"Carl, why don't you play the outfield?"

"That's up to Mr. Mack," Scheib answers. "He's still running this club."

Everybody turned and looked at their 36-year-old boss.

"Mmm—mmm," he murmured, apparently thinking of a fellow named Babe Ruth who turned his talent from pitching to outfielding.

Flagg's third run in the third on some fancy base running and two errors, led the game in the fourth when he became ill. Harry Penrose was carried from the field in the fourth inning when his trick knee gave out and sent him falling to the turf.

Doehler's and Flagg's will play the fourth game of the series tonight. The teams will be idle tomorrow night but will resume play Thursday night in the fifth game of the series.

Ringing Hill Gains Final Playoffs by Beating Obelisk, 4-2

The Ringing Hill Cubs backed up Paul Pud's steady pitching with a 12-hit assault against two Obelisk twirlers to chalk up a 4-2 victory at Swamp last night and win a berth in the Pottstown Suburban league's final playoffs.

The Cubs will meet Graterford in the first game of a best-of-five series for the title. The first game of the finals will be played tomorrow night at Graterford.

Ludy went the distance for the winning Cubs last night and limited Obelisk to four hits, all good for extra bases. He walked four and fanned six.

RINGING HILL, the visiting team, touched Stan Renninger for a single run in the second inning and then sent him to the showers with a three-run uprising in the next frame.

With a 4-0 lead, Ludy coasted the rest of the way and gave up two runs in the fourth inning.

Mel Groff, another pitcher, paced the Ringing Hill hitting attack with three hits in four appearances at the plate. The hurler played the game at second base last night.

Dodgers Sweep Pair From Cards, 6-5, 6-1

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 30 (AP)—The league-leading Brooklyn Dodgers ran their winning streak to seven games today, cleaning up the St. Louis Cardinals in both ends of a doubleheader, 6-5 and 6-1.

A four-run sixth-inning rally, climaxed by George Shuba's single, enabled the Dodgers to come from behind and win the opener while Lefty Gougeon breezed to his 11th victory in the nightcap, yielding only five hits.

In the opener, Little Murry Dickson had the Dodgers tamed, 5-2 going into the ninth when he blew up. Gene Hermanski opened the frame with a single and raced to third on Duke Snider's double. Pete Reiser then came through with a pinch-hit double and Ted Wilks relieved Dickson.

An Arky Vaughan greeted Wilks with a single, sending pinch-runner Bobby Brown to third. Vaughan hustled to second on the throw in. Wilks then intentionally walked pinch-hitter Bruce Edwards to load the bases. Marv Rackley, the fourth straight pinch-hitter used by Brooklyn, flied out. Brown scored the tying run after the catch. Shuba followed with a single to plate. Vaughan with the winning run.

THE CARDINALS staged a mild threat in their half of the ninth against Hugh Casey, fifth Dodger pitcher. Casey got the first two batters but Red Schoendienst then singled to bring up Stan Musial, top batter in the majors. Casey got Musial, who failed to hit in either game, to ground out to end the contest.

Young Carl Erskine started for the Dodgers and yielded a run in the fifth. The Dodgers came back and took the lead with two runs in the sixth on a two-run homer by Hermanski. The homer was the 32nd given up by Dickson this season, a major league record. The previous mark of 31 was set by Bill Voiselle in 1944 when he worked for New York.

The Cards came back and tied the count in their half of the sixth, forged ahead with one in the seventh and drove Erskine to cover with two in the eighth.

Yanks Slice Sox Lead to One Game

SHEA THROTTLES DETROIT, 3-0, ON ONE-HITTER

DiMaggio, Berra Drive in Only Runs; Newhouser Gets Lone Tiger Hit in Third

NEW YORK, Aug. 30 (AP) —The runner-up New York Yankees sliced the American league lead of the idle Boston Red Sox to a game tonight as Frank Shea pitched the Yanks to a 3-0 one-hit triumph over the Detroit Tigers. The Yanks scored all their runs in the first inning off Hal Newhouser, Joe DiMaggio singled in one run and Yogi Berra the other two. Newhouser singled for the lone Tiger hit in the third inning.

The only other Tiger to get on base against Shea was Hoot Evers who walked in the second. Neither Newhouser or Evers got past first.

For Shea, who has been a disappointment so far this season, it was the best game he has pitched in as majors. The victory was his seventh and fourth via the shutout route. He was lost.

George Starnweiss singled to open the Yankee first, Tommy Henrich walked but was forced at second by Johnny Lindell, Starnweiss moving to third. DiMaggio then singled to score Starnweiss with the first run, Lindell moving to third on the hit and DiMaggio taking second on the throw in. Berra followed with a single to center, Lindell and DiMaggio scoring.

SALT LAKE CITY, Aug. 30 (AP)—Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago won the $12,500 Utah Open Golf championship today by defeating George Fazio of Conshohocken, Pa., in an 18-hole playoff.

Mangrum shot a three-under-par 69 against 71 for Fazio.

The two had tied yesterday at the end of the regulation 72 holes with totals of 274.

The win gave Mangrum another $2150, to bring his tournament winnings to $29,854, well in front of Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., who now has won $26,847.

FOR PLACING second Fazio won $1550.

Mangrum went out in 33, two under par, and came back in 36, one under. Fazio was out in 34 and back in 37.

Par for the 6580-yard Fort Douglas course is 35-37-72.

Mangrum took the lead with a birdie three on the third hole, but Fazio evened the match with a birdie two on the fourth. Both parred the fifth and birdied the sixth.

After they both parred the seventh, Mangrum took a one-stroke lead with a par four on the eighth while Fazio was taking five.

BOTH SHOT par fours on the ninth, and par fives on the 10th.

On the 11th Mangrum boosted his lead to two strokes with a par four against Fazio's five.

Both took par three on the 12th, and on the 13th Mangrum went three ahead with a par four against Fazio's five.

They were even again on the 14th with birdie fours, and on the 15th with par fours.

ON THE 16TH Fazio reduced the margin to two strokes when he dropped a birdie four.

On the 210-yard 17th Mangrum was short of the green with his tee shot, but he chipped seven feet from the hole and sank a putt for a par three. Fazio had an easy three.

On the final hole both got away good drives, but Mangrum's second went into a trap near the green. Fazio's second was a foot from the carpet.

Mangrum blasted out of the trap and sank a putt for a par 4. He conceded Fazio's putt for a par four after the latter had made a desperate attempt to sink a 30-footer.

Punting, Passing Stressed At Pottstown Football Camp

Coach Heeb Meyers stressed punting and passing as Pottstown High's 37 grid candidates opened their second week of football practice at the Pottstown Community camp at Earlville yesterday.

The Trojan mentor personally handled the backfield candidates yesterday and said he was very pleased with the progress being made by the fleet-footed runners.

Meyers, starting his fourth year as Pottstown High grid coach, pointed out that each man in the backfield will have a special job. Some of the backfield men will be punters, other will be passers and all will be runners.

Punting and passing drills took up most of the morning session but the Trojan coach found time to go over fundamentals. Individual time trials closed the morning session with each boy running 50-yards against the clock.

AFTER AN AFTERNOON of rest and relaxation, the Trojans resumed practice last evening. The gridgers spent most of the time learning plays and then finished up with another hard scrimmage.

Last night Meyers said, "Most of the boys have stopped losing weight and are starting to pick up a little of the poundage they lost because of the heat. The boys are learning fast and will be in top shape when they return home later this week. They'll get a little vacation when they get home but practice will resume next Tuesday and then we'll get rolling."

Nest Tuesday the Trojans will hold a morning and afternoon workout. School opens next Wednesday and then the schedule will call for afternoon workouts after school. The Trojans will open their season against Upper Merion on Franklin Field Friday night, Sept. 24.

Cleveland pulled within one and a half games of league leading Red Sox

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (AP)—Satchel Paige stopped Washington on seven hits here tonight as Cleveland mauled four Senator pitchers for 13 hits and a 10-1 victory. The win moved the third place Indians within a game and a half of the league-leading Boston Red Sox.

Paige, who posted his sixth triumph against one defeat, owned a 2-hit game entering the eighth inning but singles by Eddie Yost, Al Evans and Gil Coan, pried Washington's only run from him. Mickey Vernon doubled in the ninth for the only extra base blow off Paige.

Ray Scarborough, who started on the mound for Washington, was forced to leave the game in the first inning due to a pulled leg muscle. The crowd of 26,058 saw the Indians batter Mickey Haefner for runs, hits and errors.

Paige hit to amass an 8-0 lead against him before he was supplanted in the seventh inning. Scarborough who left the game with two men on base who later scored, was charged with the loss.

Cleveland sprayed three runs across the plate in the first inning on Walt Judnich's double, three walks and an error by Mickey Vernon, first baseman. Eddie Robinson's double with two on fetched the Indians a 5-0 lead in the third and they made it 7-0 in the fourth when Joe Gordon tripled and Judnich walked and Lou Boudreau had singled.

PIAA Announces Grid Rule Changes

HARRISBURG, Aug. 30 (AP)—Spectators are to get a break on Pennsylvania's schoolboy gridrons this fall—players' numerals will be taller and wider.

The eyesight-saving feature was announced today by the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association together with about 40 other rule changes for the 1948 campaign.

Numerals on the back of a gridgers' jersey must now be at least 10 inches high instead of the eight inches on other years. A minimum of eight inches is set for numerals in front. The old figure was six inches.

The press box officials will also be glad to know that the width of the number is increased from one inch to one and half inches.

ELECTRIC scoreboard clocks also become automatically legal under the new regulations adopted by both the PIAA and the National Federation Football Rules committee. Hitherto, both coaches must have mutually agreed to this type of clock.

The rules also eliminate the five-yard penalty previously inflicted on a team whose player discards a headgear during a game.

Other rule changes include: The goal posts are to be regarded as out-of-bounds. If a player leans against a goal post in catching a ball, the ball on contact is out-of-bounds.

Four legal time-outs, instead of three, may be granted to a team during each half. And additional time-outs are allowed only if a player is injured.

A player replaced by a legal substitute may leave the field on either side, or at the end of the field. He is no longer restricted to leaving the field on his own side.

ANY FREE KICK, including a kick-off, which goes into the receivers' end zone remains a live ball.

Chicago Sox Score Five Runs in Ninth To Beat Athletics, 9-6

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 30 (AP)—The Chicago White Sox came from behind in the ninth inning with a five run rally after two were out to defeat the Philadelphia Athletics 9 to 6 before a crowd of 6380. It was the A's second straight defeat at the hands of the White Sox.

Singles by Tony Lupien, Luke Appling, Taft Wright, pinch hitter Ralph Weigel and Dave Philley's double comprised the last round Chicago uprising against the A's starting pitcher Joe Coleman and relief hurler Lou Brisse, who pulled the game out of the fire for Chicago.

The setback dropped the A's to 3 1/2 games out of first place. It was only Chicago's fifth victory in 20 games to date with Philadelphia.

Pirates Hand Braves 3d Straight Loss, 2-1

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 30 (AP)—A pair of ex-Brooklyn Dodgers kept Pittsburgh in the thick of the pennant fight tonight as the sizzling Pirates took their third straight from Boston's Braves, 2 to 1.

Dixie Walker provided all the batting punch with a two-run homer in the first while aging Fritz Ostermuller scattered nine hits.

The win put the Pirates in third place by two percentage points over the St. Louis Cardinals.

A crowd of 33,174 saw the amazing Pirates capture their 18th game out of the last 26.

DANNY MURTAUGH set the stage for Walker's game-winning hit when he singled to left, marking the 17th straight game in which the little second baseman has hit safely. Dixie, once the pride of Flatbush, then hit his homer into the lower right field stands.

Boston got its only run in the sixth on singles by Tommy Holmes, Mike McCormick and Bob Elliott, but gave the Pirates a bad scare in the ninth when the first two men up—Elliott and Frank McCormick singled.

Johnny Sam lost his 14th of the season against 15 wins.

World War II Vets Set Pace as Men Register for Draft

The first day for young men of Spring City area affected by the peacetime draft yielded 23, who registered in Spring City high school library yesterday. Most of them were veterans of World War II.

The registrars on duty were Charles H. Wise, high school principal; Edgar Barton, of the high school faculty, and Miss Ruth Hudson, elementary school principal.

While no estimate could be made of the number of youths eligible to respond, Wise explained that the learned yesterday the young men in the selected age bracket do not have to wait until their specified dates to register. Instructions, Wise said, indicate the board should not refuse to register applicants whose birthdays do not correspond to the specified dates.

THIS WAS TAKEN to mean that any youths of draft age may report on any of the dates the school is open. This will not only facilitate the work of the board, but also will aid the eligible males in having their registration completed.

The headquarters in the local high school library will be open up to and including Sept. 18, from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m., with Labor Day and Sundays excepted.

Dog in Ford Pound Seeks New Owner

"Who wants Pal?"
That question was pondered yesterday by Royersford's police chief, Bryson M. Turner, who explained Pal has been in the dog pound here since Thursday, Aug. 26, awaiting a claimant.

If this dog could talk he would say, "I am a brown and black sired dog, like children and anybody who likes me. I don't mind being tied, if my master will take me for a walk every day or so, I like to see the town, too. When I'm eating my bone and you take it away from me, I don't mind. I just look up and smile at you."

"I believe," the chief said, "A man's best friend is his dog," but how many owners forget this and leave their dogs run at large amid the dangers of ever-increasing traffic, litter from garbage cans, cause undue nuisance and perhaps be the cause of a serious accident to human beings."

"ALSO, BEING CHAINED for days, weeks and months without an occasional walk with his master, is another form of cruelty to our best friend. Then we have the owner who decides he no longer wants his best friend and discards his pal or locks him in a car and takes him to a strange town or place and dumps him out."

"In this dog now at the borough pound we have a swell friend, about two years old looking for a master that can be his friend. Who wants Pal?"

The police chief penned his feelings about Pal, to save the dog the ordeal of going through the only other alternative—being destroyed.

If anybody wants Pal, they should notify the police chief soon.

Humane Firemen To Boost Insurance

Increased insurance on property was ordered at a monthly meeting of Royersford Humane Fire company last night. The action to increase the amount of the policy was taken because of the increase in cost of all items of property and equipment.

It was reported new hose hangers have been installed in the hose tower. Charles R. Garber was admitted as a new member and two propositions for membership were received. Report of Capt. Robert Beideman listed one fire during the past month, Aug. 18, at the Penn Paper company.

President L. Karl Frederick conducted the session.

gin in the fifth grade of Norco schools "to allow a constant replacement of graduating band members."

Letters will be mailed to parents of Norco school boys and girls in a move to encourage participation in the new band.

THE SENIOR CLASS will make its trip to Washington, D.C., at the end of next month or at the beginning of October, board members decided last night.

Paul H. Grim, supervising principal of Norco schools, commented, "If a trip of this nature is to have any value it should be made while the students still are in school."

Board members felt, he said, that the trip was of negligible educational value when it was made at the end of the Spring term.

TWO RESIGNATIONS were announced by the board.

Nicholas Guinta, a teacher of health and physical education in the High school, left after one year at Norco for a similar post in the Coatesville Junior High school.

Mrs. Anna J. Prizer resigned from her position as fifth grade teacher in the South Pottstown school where she spent five years.

She will teach fifth grade in the Upper Merion school system.

Mrs. Helen A. Jones, a graduate of Bloomsburg State Teachers' college in 1940, will come to the Pottstown school where she spent five years.

A replacement for Guinta will be announced later this week.

THE BOARD DECIDED to use Mrs. Josephine Bentz, 1033 High street, as a substitute at the opening of the school term at the Pottstown Landing school.

Mrs. Bentz, who has substituted in Norco schools during the past five years, temporarily will replace Mrs. E. Sara Hacker, who retired from teaching recently.

E. Gilbert Stauffer, North Coventry school board president, was in charge of last night's meeting.

BROTHER OF PRINCE DIES

CAIRO, Aug. 30 (P)—Prince Seif Al Islam Abdullah of Yemen said today his brother, Seif Al Islam Ibrahim, died more than a month ago, while under arrest in Yemen. The death was due to natural causes, he said.

The playboy has webbed feet, a duck bill, a tail like a beaver, lays eggs, but has milk for the young.

CYCLIST KILLED

enced rider, having received his first license in 1921 and having been a member of several motorcycle clubs.

The possibility remained, Hovanietz said, that the "rider control" on the wheels had been adjusted too loosely, so that the front wheel would wobble at a high speed.

A DRIVER of A milk tank-truck for a West Chester dairy, Young once spoke about the need for safe driving, his family said. The past Friday, while his wife, the former Betty Jean Ludwig, and his brother, Everett, were taking turns riding his cycle, he warned each to make sure they did not speed.

Young was in an especially cheerful mood yesterday, his family said, having spent a carefree Sunday at Charleston Beach, Md., with his mother, brother and bride of a month.

He was born in West Chester, a son of Jacob M. Young, Pigeon Creek, and Mrs. Mattie C. Young, Coventryville, with whom George lived.

His family lived during his childhood in West Chester and Chester Springs. "He later worked for the West Chester dairy, was proprietor of a poolroom in Delta, Md., and then returned to Chester county."

YOUNG WAS MARRIED in Winchester, Va., after the couple had taken a trip there with his mother and brother, and had decided to climax the vacation with a wedding.

He was a member of West Chester lodge, Loyal Order of Moose, and of the West Chester Italian-American club.

Surviving are his wife; his parents; a step-brother, Herbert V. Templin, Philadelphia; a sister, Mildred, wife of Russell P. Shafer, Pigeon Creek, and two brothers, Martin J. Young, 434 High street, and Everett L. Young, at home.

Funeral arrangements, in charge of a funeral home at 229 South High street, West Chester, were incomplete last night.

A car belonging to Charles Good Jr., Spring City RD 1, was demolished early Sunday morning when it crashed into a telephone pole near Farmington, Conn., and overturned.

Good, accompanied by his wife, his parents, a sister, and a friend, was on his way to visit a brother, Frank, at Westfield, Mass., when the accident occurred.

Good said he had been talking with his father and mother while driving along Route 202. Shortly before 6:30 o'clock, however, his parents dozed off to sleep.

"I don't know what happened," Good said yesterday. "I sort of blanked out."

The car left the highway, struck a pole on the right side, and rolled over. Although shocked and bruised, none of the occupants were injured seriously, Good added.

Residents of a nearby farmhouse helped the Goods to their home, where they later were picked up by Frank Good. He drove them to the Bear Mountain bridge, in New York, and when the transportation for which they had arranged failed to appear, continued on to Spring City.

The family was resting at home yesterday.

be so unusual as to distract the wearer from concentration on his work.

"Besides, I'm more comfortable in long pants anyway," he concluded.

Business stood in the way of Jack Asay, 330 North York street, a shoe salesman, who objected to the truncated trousers leg on grounds that "you have to have a half decent appearance to put over a sale."

The two mavericks in the herd of interviewees were Harold A. Steeb, office worker with a soft water firm, and a technical outdoor worker who refused to have his name used. Both wear shorts frequently, they said.

"Hell, sometimes I even get down to my soliv' drawers," the anonymous outdoorsman admitted.

Woman Slightly Hurt In Gas Explosion

A New Berlinville couple returned to their newly purchased home in Colebrookdale yesterday after a gas explosion Saturday caused extensive plaster damage and inflicted slight injuries on another woman.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Swinehart were moving belongings into the new home when the blast occurred. Mrs. Mary Eschbach, Clayton, Swinehart's sister, received a leg wound which required several stitches.

It is believed that gas, leaked from a "bottled-gas range" and seeped into the cellar where it was ignited when an electric pump started to remove water from the lower level.

Plaster fell from most of the walls in the house, and several windows were shattered. The blast was heard at John Heffner's store about a half mile from the Swinehart home.

street; Mrs. Ernest T. Hunter, 1218 Cherry street; Mrs. Frank Witmyer, 1463 Cherry lane; Mrs. Henry T. Schneider, 412 Burdun drive; Mrs. Harry Guest, 852 North Evans street, and Mrs. Smith.

None of the 75 men born in 1922 were unfortunate enough to have been born on Aug. 31, a check of the records showed, one day after draft eligibility began.

Many of the registrants came from Berks and Chester counties, since the Pottstown board was geographically closer than their own draft board.

Longaker commented on this, "We'll register anyone here if they are too far away from their local board."

After registration is accomplished the Pottstown board will forward the card to the out-of-town's permanent address. The man will then come under the permanent jurisdiction of his home draft board.

LONGAKER ALSO Praised the women volunteers.

"They really did a swell job," he said. "There were more details to be taken care of than there were during the wartime registration, and it was a much slower job."

The women themselves reported that they were able to enroll about the men an hour yesterday. At the Dehler-Jarvis corporation plant, where an auxiliary registration center has been set up, 19 men were registered yesterday.

Today and tomorrow all men born in 1923 will be required to register. Men born in 1924—Thursday and Friday.

Men born in 1925—Sept. 4 and 7.

Men born in 1926—Sept. 8-9.

Men born in 1927—Sept. 10 and 11.

Men born in 1928—Sept. 13 and 14.

Men born in 1929—Sept. 15 and 16.

Men born in 1930 before Sept. 19, 1930—Sept. 17-18.

Men born on or after Sept. 19, 1930—register with their local board within five days after their 18th birthday.

Army Asks 10,000 Men For November Induction

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (P)—The Army started draft calls today right along with the beginning of registration, asking 10,000 men for November induction.

They are all for the Army—the Navy and the Air Force said they are getting enough volunteers so far to fill their ranks.

The Army is expected to call later for another 10,000 to be sworn in in December, with quotas rising gradually to a maximum around 30,000 a month.

Notice of the first monthly call went from the munitions board to Selective Service headquarters while men aged 25 were filling out their first forms in thousands of draft board offices over the nation.

IT'S HIS STEER

tion of the steer, he isn't positive. But one thing he is sure of—he is missing a steer that is as wild and almost as fast as a deer.

HIS TROUBLES with steers started three months ago. A heavy rain undermined the wire fence around the pasture that housed four, big choice steers purchased from a Norristown stock dealer.

One steer stayed; three got away. Of these three, one was captured by a posse composed of Lang, Daniel W. Guldin, North Coventry police chief, and a group of Lang's neighbors.

The other two wanderers were seen in a woods behind Lang's home. They would hide there in the daytime and emerge at night.

NINE DAYS AGO, Lang himself got a clear look at the two steers. Somewhat weary of spending his weekdays working in Philadelphia and his weekends and nights hunting stray steers, he decided to end the hunt.

Lang took his 44 caliber rifle and brought down one of the steers, steaks from which are expected to make their appearance on the Lang table shortly.

The other steer, a red Hereford with a snit, ran off at the crack of the rifle and disappeared in the woods.

Lang's description of the Hereford coincides generally with the description given of the High street steer by flabbergasted spectators.

Since nobody ever reported 800 pounds of meat plodding its unscrutable way across the Hanover street bridge, Lang can only assume that the steer swam the Schuylkill.

Lang and Guldin would appreciate a word from any local residents who see a steer with a white face in their back yard.

Vacationing Mercury Readers

By The VACATION EDITOR of The Mercury

As we were saying yesterday, these heat waves motivate an exodus of souls to the beaches, at which places one can see anything if he can endure the gaff.

Have you ever taken along a new beach towel but what some dumb cluck burns a hole in it with a cigarette? Have you ever reposed lazily in the sun without a bunch of wet urchins racing by and kicking sand in your face and hair? If this hasn't happened, then you must own your own beach.

No doubt you've witnessed some insistent parents who spend the afternoon trying to acquaint their squalling scared-to-death, young'uns with the water, while on the next blanket, an irate mother whistles the tar out of wet urchins racing by and kicking sand in your face and hair? If this hasn't happened, then you must own your own beach.

The beach is where painted toenails shine with resplendent glory... red ones, purple, pink, long, chewed, and dirty toenails. You see skeletons, varicose veins, ex-sugar bag bathing trunks, and motorcyclists.

Unless you want to see the biggest expose of the year, don't go to popular bathing spot during a heat wave.

available for home sites," he asserted, "in many residential areas."

Exley also said he had had preliminary talks with potential investors, and that "the prospects are encouraging."

His plans call for a "basic house," built singly or doubly, containing six rooms.

This house could be constructed at a relatively low cost on a mass-production basis, Exley said, and would sell for between $7000 and $8000.

ALTHOUGH ALL the homes would have a similar floor plan, to facilitate large-scale building, the builder would give buyers a choice of several architectural plans, "to relieve the monotony in any one neighborhood."

As he explained it, "These houses would not only vary among themselves, but we would provide for additions, like an extra bedroom, sunporch, large fireplace or almost anything else that the owner wanted to have at extra cost."

Working at a low profit on a heavy volume basis, Exley declared he could help lick Pottstown's housing problem with his "basic homes." The builder said the homes would be sold or rented.

Amvets Give Iron Lung To Empire Firemen

A portable iron lung was presented to the community the past Friday night when representatives of the Pottstown Amvets, Post 23, designated the Empire Hook and Ladder Fire company to take charge of the respiratory apparatus.

In a special ceremony in the lounge room of the fire company, Albert Kerr, company secretary, formally accepted the lung from Harry Bernhart, Amvets commander, before an audience of firemen and ex-servicemen.

Kenneth Fryer, Empire member, presented Bernhart to the group.
